About Action Against Hunger, Afghanistan

Action Against Hunger is a non-governmental organization which has been fighting global malnutrition for 40 years.

As a politically fragmented and natural disaster-prone nation, Afghanistan has long faced levels of chronic insecurity, internal displacement, and widespread poverty that has subjected its populations to ongoing hardships and recurring humanitarian crises. Communities remain food insecure for a range of reasons, such as the cumulative impacts of multiple droughts, erratic climate shocks and seasonal flooding, and a lack of infrastructure and limited access to markets. These problems are especially acute among vulnerable populations in remote regions. As a result, Afghanistan ranks poorly on basic human development indicators, with millions dependent on external humanitarian assistance for their daily survival and an estimated four million refugees living abroad in Pakistan and Iran. Although education and health have improved in urban areas, rural populations remain largely vulnerable facing high levels of maternal and infant mortality, disease and malnutrition.

ACF has been in Afghanistan since 1995 with a team of 371 employees and a budget of USD 13-14m. In 2017, ACF implemented several integrated project in nutrition and health, water, sanitation and hygiene (WASH), food, security and livelihoods (FSL) and mental health and care practices (MHCP) responding to the needs of the most vulnerable in Helmand, Ghor and Kabul. ACF also extended its emergency response mechanism (ERM) approach into more provinces such as Daykundi, Nimroz and Bamyan reaching 191,030 people. In 2017, 1,973 IDPs increased their access to sanitation and hygiene through latrines and hygiene kits, and 21,724 IDPs benefited from multi-purpose cash distribution. Through its nutrition surveillance department and together with partners, ACF conducted 12 assessments across Afghanistan addressing current humanitarian data gaps and ensuring informed strategic programming decisions. ACF Afghanistan also recently organized an acclaimed photography exhibition in Kabul and Brussels, to raise awareness about the humanitarian situation in Afghanistan.
