Description

Since the independence of Bangladesh as a nation, BRAC has played a defining role in the country's economic and social development. As Executive Director for BRAC Bangladesh, you will work closely with BRAC's Founder, Board and senior management to lead the strategic shift of the organisation, both as BRAC transitions into a global organisation, and as Bangladesh transitions to a middle-income country and adapts to development challenges such as urbanisation, climate change and migration. You are a mission-driven, strategic leader who is able to inspire and manage a high-performing team, oversee complex programmes and business operations, and cultivate and sustain senior government, donor and other stakeholder relations, meanwhile offering a vision for the future of BRAC in Bangladesh.

About BRAC

BRAC was established in 1972 in a remote village in Bangladesh as a limited relief operation. Today it is the largest development organisation in the world, ranked by Geneva-based NGO Adviser as the world's top NGO for the third year running. Sharing successful solutions in 11 other countries in Africa and Asia, BRAC implements large-scale and impactful interventions in the areas of livelihoods, health, education, micro-finance, climate change and community development, with a strong commitment to gender equality and empowerment of women and girls across all its work.

BRAC works on changing the systems of inequity by creating platforms to empower individuals and communities in situations of poverty, illiteracy, disease and social injustice. Every year, BRAC engages 60,000 employees and more than 100,000 volunteers in Africa and Asia. BRAC touches the lives of an estimated 130 million people, with staff, volunteers and BRAC-trained entrepreneurs numbering in the hundreds of thousands.

BRAC is many things, it is a social enterprise, an NGO, a public forum, a knowledge hub, a social investor, a policy advocate, a university and a crisis responder. It brings together changemakers, activists, heroes and mentors who want to build a world that works for everyone.
