

International Director of Programmes

Description

About Light for the World

Light for the World (LFTW) is a global disability and development organisation whose vision is an inclusive society where no one is left behind. They enable essential eye health services and help empower people with disabilities in some of the world's poorest regions. As an employer, Light for the World aims to foster a workplace where individual differences are recognised, appreciated, and respected in ways that utilise each person's talents and strengths.

Purpose of the Role

The International Director of Programmes leads programme excellence and efficiency across LFTW's six country offices. This role defines roles, fosters collaboration among country directors, and ensures alignment with organisational goals. The role integrates programme efforts with advocacy objectives, working closely with the Impact and Advocacy team.

Additionally, the position collaborates with the International Director of Finance and Operations and the International Director of Fundraising and Communication to manage a grant portfolio. This requires strategically allocating funds and balancing earmarked and non-earmarked funds based on organisational vision and community needs. The International Director of Programmes will navigate relationships between fundraising teams and programme staff, ensuring alignment with donor expectations. This includes evaluating organisational structures to improve efficiency while maintaining alignment with LFTW's goals.
